DentaLine is the NHS's emergency dental service. DentaLine can treat patients who:

- are bleeding heavily (haemorrhaging) from the mouth
- have an injury to their teeth or mouth
- have severe facial swelling
- are in pain that started suddenly and cannot be eased by pain killers

NHS charges apply at all DentaLine centres. For information about NHS dental charges see the NHS dental leaflet on the www.nhs.uk website. Normal opening hours are every evening 7pm-10.30pm plus weekends and bank holiday morning 9.30am to 11am. Patients should telephone the centres before attending and will be triaged during their call (that is, the patient will be assessed to determine how urgently treatment is needed).
